Blackboard has the ability to allow instructors to change the “course entry point” for Blackboard. For instance, instructors can set up Blackboard so that students always go to the Course Documents page when they enter the instructor’s course. The default course entry page is the Home Page for the course.

CHANGING COURSE ENTRY POINT

1. Navigate to the course in Blackboard you want to modify.

2. In the Control Panel, click Customization.

3. Click Teaching Style.
4. Under section 2 of the Teaching Style customization page, select your preferred course Entry Point from the drop-down list. Content sections that are NOT available to users will not be listed here. The options will vary depending on what content areas you have established for your course. Typical content areas for course entry point include Announcements or Assignments.

5. Click Submit when finished.

The next time your students login to your course, they will see the content area you have selected, rather than the default content area (Home Page).
