Tegrity allows the instructor to record any activity on the computer screen as well as record any lecture delivered in front of a camera (e.g. a webcam). This program can be used to enhance learning for distance, blended, and on-campus courses. Lecture recordings captured by Tegrity are archived; therefore the students can view them at any time. Students can also add bookmarks to any point of the video that they might have a question or comment about. Instructors can add bookmarks as well.

ACCESS TEGRITY

1. Select the course in which you have Tegrity.

2. Select Tegrity Classes from the buttons on the left.

3. Tegrity will now open in a separate window. NOTE: You may need to enable pop-ups for the window to open.
IMPORTANT: If you sign out of Tegrity using the sign out button in the top right hand corner of the Tegrity window, you will have to reopen the window as shown above. Logging in via the login page that pops-up will produce an error message.
